Yesterday Mr. Bose, who is a full-blooded Hindoo, appeared in the pulpit arrayed in a white robe and took for his subject the could tion, bribis and customs of his received the three holds of his home for thirty years, as a Hindoo, as soon as he embraced christianity, is estracted. He said his people had deteriorated from the knowledge of the true God by their idotary, but that a brighter day was new dawning upon them. Jeaus Christ was new dawning upon them. Jeaus Christ was spoken of as one of the greatest of prophets and his teachings are being considered as the best. Many were accepting faith in him. In Hindoo the families were divided, the men being separated from the women. A Hindoo woman has nothing to make her sectusion pleasant; she bas to wile a treatise in faver of christianity, or they can comait morder, adultery or any other horrible crime so long as they keep the rules of caste, but all the dollars in the United States would not induce them to take a drink of water from the knowl for the United States would not induce them to take a drink of water from the knowl of the United States would not induce them to take a drink of water from the knowl of the United States would not induce them to take a drink of water from the knowl of the United States would not induce them to take a drink of water from the knowl of the United States would not induce them to take a drink of water from the knowl of the United States would not induce them to take a drink of water from the knowl of the Columbias make no protentious to being allowed as the best. The Execution of Bedford, Pinn and Queenan Postponed for Two Months.

When on the 23d of June last Judge Hagner appointed the 10th day of September as the day of execution for Bedford, Queenan and Pinn, the three colored men convicted of the murdar of George Philip Hirth on P street, in January last, he stated that he granted this nuusually long time in order to permit their counsel to develop the evidence which they claimed to have discovered with the view of influencing the executive in behalf of the prisoners. Since that day the counsel and friends of the prisoners have been actively at work in their interest, and after several interviews with the attorney-general succeeded in obtaining a respite for the three men until the 19th of November.

The president signed the reprieve last Thursday, but it was not delivered to the authorities of the jail until Saturday. It was signed with the understanding that Jadge Hagner should be consuited as to the propriety of the measure before it should be delivered to the marshal. The attorney general, having had an interview with Judge Hagner on Friday, formally delivered the paper to the jail authorities last Saturday, and its contents were made known to the prisoners. The adject of this postponement is understood to be to give the president further time to consider the cases of the three men.
